Module Code R 5.3		Workload 150 h	Credits 5 ECTS		Study Semester		Frequency of Module Offer	Duration of Module
					5th Sem.		Every Semester
1	Teaching Methods		Con		tact Hours I	Ind	Independent study	Planned Group
	Lecture: 4 weekly o semester	contact hours per		ho	ekly contact ours per ester / 45 h		105 h	Size 50 Students dership (2 weekly ours per semester) rnational Tourism (2 weekly contact semester)
2	Learning outcomes / Competences
	Professional competences After completing this module successfully, students will be able to understand the foundations of leadership and self-leadership understand and analyze different theoretical frameworks and important research results on leadership apply this knowledge to typical leadership situations and specific challenges understand and analyze specific leadership issues in the tourism industry understand and analyze current leadership trends based on their knowledge about the foundations of leadership and important theoretical frameworks understand and analyze the specific challenges of international tourism marketing, its theoretical concepts, and practical implications understand tourists – How can we examine visitor motivations, behaviours, and consumption desires in the 21st century? understand and analyze selected aspects of international strategic marketing and the international marketing mix sustainability has become an internationally-fostered paradigm of tourism marketing: understand and analyze its specific challenges, explore and discuss related theoretical frameworks, and practical solutions for the tourism industry apply this knowledge on international marketing situations and case studies Technical, personal and social competences Furthermore, the following interdisciplinary competences are addressed as students will be able to enhance their self-organization and team work skills learn how to access and critically evaluate new topics and research results improve their ability to articulate scientific knowledge in group discussions

	increase their intercultural skills
3	Contents
	R 531 Leadership
	This course addresses leadership in the context of leading oneself, leading people and leading organizations. Different theoretical frameworks of leadership as well as its applicability on leadership situations are discussed. It also focuses on new developments of leadership research such as Systemic Leadership, Positive Leadership and Mindful Leadership to name but a few. Specific leadership challenges in tourism are addressed as well as cross-cultural applicability. The connection between self-leadership, leading people and leading organizations will be discussed and applied to case studies.
	R 532 International Tourism Marketing
	This course addresses tourism marketing in its international context, related concepts, and practical implications. The importance of market research and segmentation and the understanding of consumer behavior will be shown and discussed. Tourism in his external context and the resulting influence on international tourism marketing is examined. The design of the international marketing-mix including tourism branding will be presented and discussed. Future trend and technologies in international marketing will be analyzed. The discussion of international case studies will round off the lecture.
4	Teaching Methods: Lectures
5	Participation Prerequisites: See conditions for progression to advanced semesters (cf. study and examination regulations)
6	Examination: written exam
7	Prerequisites for the Allocation of Credit Points: passed module exam
8	Use of the Module (in other study programs): none
9	Factor for calculation of the degree grade: weighting with factor 1
10	Module Supervisor and Full-Time Teachers:
	a) Prof. Dr. Simon Werther (R 531)
	b) Dr. Truc Lee (R 532)
11	Other Information
	Module in English language					