Hochschule München University of Applied Sciences

Courses in English
Course Description

Department	08 Geoinformatics
Course title	Geomatics Master Seminar
Course number	MG11
Hours per week (SWS)	4
Number of ECTS credits	5
Course objective	The students are able to work on a special topic in depth as a module thesis according to scientific criteria and corresponding scientific working methods and to communicate and present the results achieved in a self-organised manner.
Prerequisites	no
Recommended reading	To be announced at the start of the module
Teaching methods	lecture; case analysis; group work; business game; presentation
Assessment methods	Thesis and presentation
Language of instruction	English/German
Name of lecturer	All professors of the Geoinformatics department.
Email	wilfried.hagg@hm.edu (head of study program)
Link	https://www.geo.hm.edu/kontakt/prof/hagg/index.de.html
Course content	Current scientific and application-related topics in geomatics from all three focal areas and scientific working methods. Methods of self-organisation and self-reflection, as well as communication and presentation techniques. If applicable, excursions to research institutions, offices and companies.
Remarks	Each student may choose his/her preferred topic from a list of topics proposed by the professors.